Dr. Gary W. Beall ★ PRESIDENTIAL SEMINAR 2012

For the past four decades, Dr. Gary W. Beall has conducted research on nanoparticles. At the Presidential Seminar he will trace the connections between many of his research problems and discuss how observations that once appeared to be of little significance later turned out to have great impact on the outcome of the research.

Dr. Gary Beall is a professor in the Department of Chemistry and Biochemistry and associate dean of research and commercialization for the College of Science and Engineering.
